

Objective Question of Chalcolithic sites of Rajasthan

HTTPS://CHITRABAZAR.COM/

What does the term "Chalcolithic" refer to in the context of archaeological periods?

- a) Stone Age
- b) Bronze Age
- c) Iron Age
- d) Copper Age

Answer: d) Copper Age

During the Chalcolithic period, what materials were primarily used for making tools and artifacts?

- a) Copper and bronze
- b) Iron and steel
- c) Stone and bone
- d) Gold and silver

Answer: a) Copper and bronze

Which Chalcolithic culture is associated with the ancient site of Ahar in Rajasthan?

- a) Soan Valley Culture
- b) Ahar-Banas Culture
- c) Ochre Colored Pottery Culture
- d) Sothi-Siswal Culture

Chitrabazar.com

Answer: b) Ahar-Banas Culture

The Ahar-Banas Culture of Rajasthan is known for its distinctive:

- a) Megalithic burials
- b) Cave paintings
- c) Petroglyphs
- d) Earthenware pottery

Answer: d) Earthenware pottery

What significant archaeological discovery is associated with the Chalcolithic site of Gilund in Rajasthan?

- a) Stone temples
- b) Copper artifacts
- c) Megaliths
- d) Terracotta figurines

Answer: b) Copper artifacts

Which ancient river is believed to have influenced the civilization around the Chalcolithic site of Kalibangan in Rajasthan?

- a) Yamuna
- b) Saraswati
- c) Ganges
- d) Sutlej

Answer: b) Saraswati

The Chalcolithic site of Balathal in Rajasthan is known for its:

- a) Rock engravings
- b) Megalithic burials
- c) Copper hoard
- d) Pottery wheels

Answer: c) Copper hoard

What are the distinctive features of the Chalcolithic pottery found in Rajasthan's Ahar-Banas Culture?

- a) Red and black colors
- b) Yellow and green colors
- c) Polished blackware
- d) Earthenware with painted motifs

Answer: d) Earthenware with painted motifs

Which Chalcolithic culture is associated with the Chakshu site in Rajasthan?

- a) Ahar-Banas Culture
- b) Soan Valley Culture
- c) Ochre Colored Pottery Culture
- d) Sothi-Siswal Culture

Answer: a) Ahar-Banas Culture

Chitrabazar.com

What is the significance of the term "Chalcolithic" in the study of ancient cultures?

- a) It refers to cultures that primarily used copper and bronze.
- b) It indicates cultures that used only stone tools.

- c) It signifies cultures that used iron exclusively.
- d) It denotes cultures that practiced agriculture.

Answer: a) It refers to cultures that primarily used copper and bronze.

Which Chalcolithic site in Rajasthan is known for its copper hoard and copper objects like axes, knives, and fish hooks?

- a) Gilund
- b) Balathal
- c) Kalibangan
- d) Ahar

Answer: b) Balathal

The site of Ahar in Rajasthan is primarily associated with the:

- a) Ochre Colored Pottery Culture
- b) Soan Valley Culture
- c) Ahar-Banas Culture
- d) Sothi-Siswal Culture

Answer: c) Ahar-Banas Culture

The transition from the Chalcolithic to the Bronze Age is marked by the use of:

- a) Stone tools
- b) Copper and bronze tools
- c) Iron tools
- d) Wooden tools

Answer: c) Iron tools

Which Chalcolithic site is famous for the discovery of terracotta figurines, often referred to as "Mother Goddess" figurines?

- a) Kalibangan
- b) Balathal
- c) Gilund
- d) Ahar

Answer: d) Ahar

The Chalcolithic site of Chakshu is associated with which culture?

- a) Ahar-Banas Culture
- b) Ochre Colored Pottery Culture
- c) Soan Valley Culture
- d) Sothi-Siswal Culture

Answer: a) Ahar-Banas Culture

Which type of pottery is characteristic of the Ochre Colored Pottery Culture during the Chalcolithic period?

- a) Polished blackware
- b) Red and black pottery
- c) Earthenware with painted designs
- d) Terracotta pottery

Answer: b) Red and black pottery

The term "Chalcolithic" combines elements of which two materials in its name?

- a) Stone and bone
- b) Copper and bronze
- c) Gold and silver
- d) Wood and clay

Answer: b) Copper and bronze

What type of burials are commonly associated with Chalcolithic cultures in Rajasthan?

- a) Cremations
- b) Megalithic burials
- c) Terracotta burials
- d) Tower burials

Answer: b) Megalithic burials

Chitrabazar.com

The Chalcolithic site of Sothi in Rajasthan is known for its:

- a) Megalithic structures
- b) Cave paintings

c) Copper artifacts

d) Petroglyphs

Answer: a) Megalithic structures

The transition from the Chalcolithic to the Bronze Age is marked by the use of iron tools. True or False?

Answer: False

Which Chalcolithic culture is known for its rock engravings and petroglyphs found at sites like Balathal?

a) Ochre Colored Pottery Culture

b) Ahar-Banas Culture

c) Soan Valley Culture

d) Sothi-Siswal Culture

Answer: b) Ahar-Banas Culture

What is the primary material used for creating pottery during the Chalcolithic period in Rajasthan?

- a) Copper
- b) Stone
- c) Earthenware
- d) Bronze

Answer: c) Earthenware

The Chalcolithic site of Balathal is known for its copper hoard, which includes:

- a) Copper coins
- b) Copper jewelry
- c) Copper weapons
- d) Copper utensils

Answer: c) Copper weapons

The Chalcolithic site of Kalibangan is associated with the Indus Valley Civilization. True or False?

Answer: True

What type of objects are commonly found in the copper hoards of Chalcolithic sites in Rajasthan?

- a) Musical instruments
- b) Household items
- c) Weapons and tools
- d) Ceramic figurines

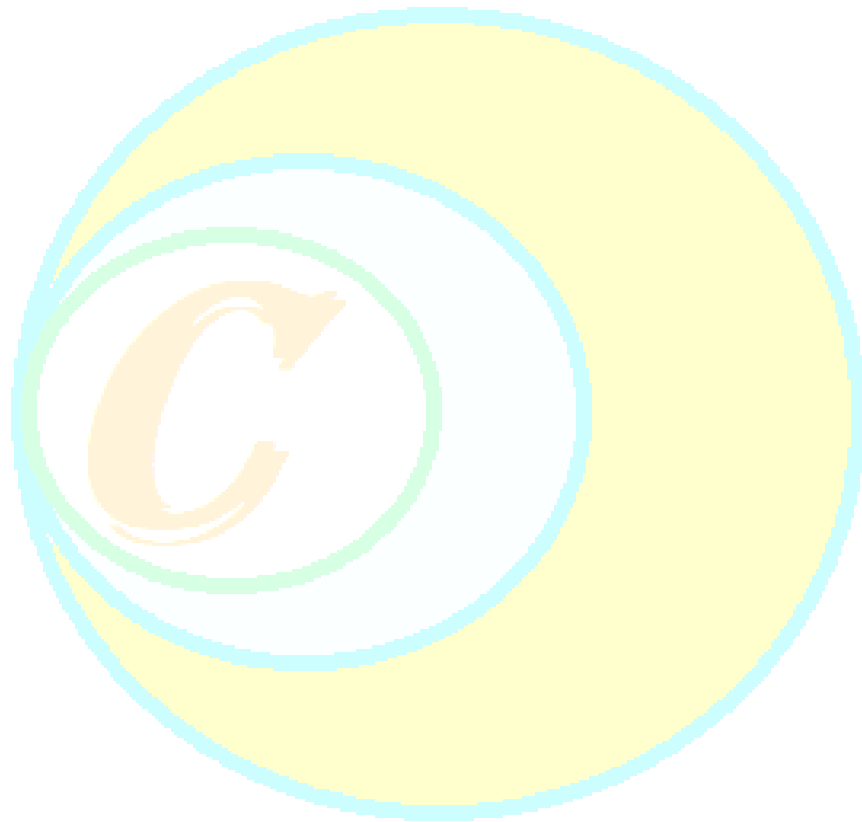

Answer: c) Weapons and tools

FOR MOST POPULAR PDF GO TO WEBSITE

<https://chitrabazar.com/pdf-drive-room/>

FOR RAS PDF GO TO WEBSITE

CLICK HERE

Chitrabazar.com